

Global Stamp Competition

Students who are interested in designing their own IYC stamps can participate in the Global Stamp Competition, which was launched in Paris last January during the IYC 2011 opening ceremony. The stamps are required to highlight the impact of chemistry on a country's culture and everyday life.

The competition is now open to students all over the world in 3 age categories (12-14, 15-18 and undergraduates / teacher students from all subjects (not only chemistry!))

Students can submit their designs (guidelines) before June 15, 2011 to an interactive publication platform, that also allows peer review (PowerPoint with detailed instructions).

All published entries are visible. An international jury will judge the entries.

The winning stamps will be on show during the IYC 2011 Closing Ceremony in the Grand Palais in Brussels, Belgium. We might be able to facilitate the designers of the winning stamps to attend this ceremony on December 1, 2011 to attend a student's programme.

Deadline for submission: June 15, 2011
