

Teaching Jobs in China!

The City

Often called the Paris of the East, Shanghai has been the epicentre of the thriving Chinese economy of the last 2 decades. One of the biggest cities in the world, it has all the cultural, social, fashion, sporting and transport amenities you would expect from one of the greatest cities on the planet. There is a vibrant Irish community who organise a week of events around St Patrick's day, with a strong Gaelic football club, Irish family organisations running Irish dancing, singing and music classes and an active Irish Chamber of Commerce.

The School

The school is one of the best known and longest established in Shanghai. Its mission is to provide students with an exceptional learning experience that focuses on intellectual, physical, cultural, and social development. By utilizing a balanced approach that stresses independent thinking, problem solving, collaboration, and experimentation the school encourages it's students to fully realize their scholarly potentials.

The role

The school has vacancies for 2 teachers to start in early August.

1. Primary school teacher for age 7-8 years.
2. Secondary schools science teacher

The successful candidate will be an excellent communicator, have good ICT competencies, as well as a sense of humour and a willingness to embrace change. A minimum of 2 years post-graduation work experience is preferred.

On offer to new expatriate staff is an attractive remuneration package, including a very competitive salary (linked to experience), accommodation allowance, international health insurance and annual flight allowance.

Interested teachers should send their CV's to pmooney@cems.ie.
